DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Regarding claim 1, it seems that a first amplifier circuit and second amplifier circuit are mirror to one another. However, it is unclear why the first amplifier circuit supplies a current to an output terminal while the second amplifier circuit absorbs a current from the output terminal. As shown from drawing, it is not clear how the second amplifier circuit absorbs a current from the output terminal.

Regarding claim 2, it is not clear which circuit called "potential generating circuit".

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Itakura et al. (6,480,178).

Regarding claim 1, Itakura et al. (Fig. 31) disclose an amplifier circuit comprising: a first amplifier circuit (Mp41, Mp42) and a second amplifier circuit (Mn41, Mn42) receive first and second potential via (IN-, IN+); and a control circuit (POL) for selectively controlling the amplifier simultaneously.

Regarding claim 2, wherein inputs (IN+, IN-) can be read as a potential generating circuit and IN+ can be read as first potential and IN- can be read as a second potential.

Regarding claim 3, wherein the first amplifier circuit (Mp41, Mp42) and the second amplifier circuit (Mn41, Mn42) are differential amplifier having a common output (OUT).

Regarding claim 4, wherein switches (SW20, SW21) can be read as a first switches for the amplifiers which selectively cut off by control circuit (POL).

Regarding claim 5, wherein current sources (Ib1, Ib2) can be read as a second transistor for the amplifiers having the functions thereof.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claim 6 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Claim 6 calls for, among others, the operation of the control circuit as claimed.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The additional references (Whatley (5,083,051); Xu (6,066,985); Fujise (6,501,252)) show further analogous prior art circuitry.

These arts are deemed relevant and should be carefully reviews before any amendment is filed.
